The National Curriculum was introduced into England, Wales and Northern Ireland as a nationwide curriculum for primary and secondary state schools following the Education Reform Act 1988. Notwithstanding its name, it does not apply to independent schools, which may set their own curricula, but it ensures that state schools of all local education authorities have a common curriculum.

If you are seeking a job outside of the United States, be aware that many employers will ask you for a curriculum vitae (or "CV"), perhaps with an accompanying profile, rather than for a "resume." This can be confusing, since in the US curriculum vitae are used almost exclusively for jobs in academia, scientific research fields, and the medical professions.

A national curriculum is a common programme of study in schools that is designed to ensure nationwide uniformity of content and standards in education. It is usually legislated by the national government, possibly in consultation with state or other regional authorities.. National curriculum assessment generally means testing of students as to whether they meet the national standards.
