

doctor patient confidentiality the pdf

A patient must have confidence in the competence of their physician and must feel that they can confide in him or her. For most physicians, the establishment of good rapport with a patient is important. Some medical specialties, such as psychiatry and family medicine, emphasize the physicianâ€™patient relationship more than others, such as pathology or radiology, which have very little contact ...

The doctor-patient relationship has sometimes been characterized as silencing the voice of patients. It is now widely agreed that putting patients at the centre of healthcare, by trying to provide a consistent, informative and respectful service to patients, will improve both outcomes and patient satisfaction. [citation needed]When patients are not at the centre of healthcare, when ...
